What you can do for yourself

Believe in yourself
Having faith in your own capabilities.

It means believing that you CAN do something — that it is within your ability.

You have not achieve it YET!
When you believe in yourself, you can overcome self-doubt and have the confidence to take action and get things done.

Supporting your child

A love for learning... It can begin at home.

Learning dispositions are positive attitudes and traits towards learning. A child's disposition to learning affects how they learn. They help our children find joy in learning to become life-long learners.

Engagement

Children who are engaged are immersed in learning and enjoy what they do.

What my child may say.

“

I ENJOY LEARNING.

I AM EXCITED ABOUT LEARNING.

Why this may be important.

When our children are involved and engaged, they enjoy what they are learning and seek new opportunities to learn. Being engaged also helps them to take responsibility for their own learning.

How do I develop it?

Observe what excites your child most. Involve them in things and activities that interest them. For example, if they are interested in dinosaurs, you can engage them in stories about dinosaurs.

When they show enjoyment, encourage them with language like, “Shall we read up more about the topic? How about reading on your own?” This will motivate them and help them become more enthusiastic in their learning.

Appreciation

Children with a sense of appreciation listen to the views of others and show respect for them.

What my child may say.

I LISTEN TO THE VIEWS OF OTHERS AND VALUE WHAT THEY SAY.

I RESPECT EVERYONE FOR WHO THEY ARE AND WANT TO LEARN FROM THEM AND WITH THEM.

Why this may be important.

When we encourage our children to respect differences, they learn to listen and consider the opinions and ideas of others. This teaches our children to appreciate differences amongst people, value the contributions of others and be able to work in a team.

How do I develop it?

You can nurture this attitude by showing your child ways to respect different views. For example, discuss with your child and family members what to have for meals for the week, or the hobbies and strengths of the members in the family.

This will encourage your child and help them understand that everyone has different preferences, interests and strengths. When your child listens to the views of others, use positive language such as, "I like how you listened to what others were saying. Let's see how we can combine our ideas together!"

4 tips to check in with your child about school

Tip 1: Ask open-ended questions

Compared to 'Yes or no' questions, these can encourage your child to share more. If they are quiet, offer options.

Tip 2: Follow your child's interest

Talk to them about things that get them excited or chat about a school activity they mentioned. This shows you are interested in what they care about.

Tip 3: Problem-solve together

It's tempting to offer solutions right away when your child shares his problems. Instead, listen and ask them to think about how they will address the situation and guide them towards their own solutions.

Tip 4: Be a role model

Share your own thoughts to show it's ok to talk about one's emotions and worries. Explain how you deal with your problems, and encourage your child to find ways that work for them.
